

PRESS RELEASE

Euroguarco is appointed Italian Allied Distributor for Flexitallic seals

Leading Italian seal manufacturer and distributor Euroguarco has been appointed an Allied Distributor for Flexitallic Limited. The appointment extends the global Allied Distributor network supporting UK based Flexitallic's international sealing technology business.

Operating for over 50 years in the industrial seal business, Euroguarco provides a wealth of technical experience and product support for Flexitallic's Italian customers.

Well established in Italy's many manufacturing and processing sectors, Euroguarco will now be able to extend its offering to include Flexitallic's proven Sealing Technology. This will increase Euroguarco's, and Flexitallic's, reach into Italy's extensive oil and gas, chemical, pharmaceutical and power generation sectors.

Euroguarco will focus on developing the value of Flexitallic's Sigma, Thermiculite and other products to leading Italian businesses. The brand complements Euroguarco's other well established product ranges which includes piping, valves and insulation.

Massmilliano Ghirlanda, Managing Director of Euroguarco, commented, “The Flexitallic brand is valued in Italy in many sectors but there are still many areas where awareness of its high quality and specification are yet to be introduced. The Italian market, although highly competitive, provides many areas where the Flexitallic product can deliver a real improvement to efficiency.”

“Phil Kelshaw, Sales Director, Flexitallic Limited, explained, “Our customers agree that Flexitallic Allied Distributors add significant value to our product. They offer regional and industry specific expertise which, apart from providing know-how, allows us to ensure items are readily available from stock.”
